

Mission-minded cities

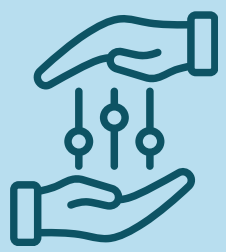

For all cities beyond the EU Cities Mission, aligned with its mindset and objectives.

Expert support for your city's climate journey

The Technical Helpdesk is one part of the Mission-minded cities offer, providing free, personalised, on-demand support to help your city across key urban domains (energy, mobility, the built environment, circular economy, climate adaptation, and more).

It mobilises NetZeroCities' hands-on expertise and partner resources to accelerate your path to climate neutrality.

WHAT SUPPORT CAN YOU GET?

Tailored technical resources and expert recommendations

Best practices from Mission cities and NetZeroCities partners

Ongoing debrief and follow-up support

Easy apply: no full proposal required

Submit your request here

Our team will be in touch shortly

HOW IT WORKS

- 1 Submit a request
 Complete the short technical request form, outlining your city's key priorities and domain of action. Select the most relevant technical areas and submit. A clear, concise expression of interest is all we need.
- 2 Initial consultation meeting
 Our technical team will reach out within 5 to 7 business days to schedule a 30-minute consultation, the starting point of your personalised support journey.
- 3 Receive your technical report
 After the meeting, the Helpdesk delivers a tailored technical report, with targeted resources, tools and actionable recommendations aligned to your city's specific context. This may include tools, methodologies, best practice examples, guidance documents, and case studies.
- 4 Review, debrief and follow-up
 The report is just the beginning. You have a dedicated support window to explore the findings, with a debrief meeting available and the technical team on hand if questions arise.

